Rödl & Partner in the 23rd Ranking of Audit Firms by Rzeczpospolita

In the 23rd Ranking of Audit Firms by Rzeczpospolita, Rödl & Partner has ranked 12th. It has also ranked 11th in terms of audit revenue (2023 figures). Taking into account total revenue, we are in 6th place.

Rödl & Partner is also among the five firms, outside of the Big Four, that exceeded the revenue of 100 million zloty and among the few firms that reported strong audit revenue growth of more than a fifth.

In order to be an equal partner for its clients, Rödl & Partner strives for broadly understood digitalisation of audit services. With the security of businesses in mind, we have made mobility, continuous improvement, flexibility and financial data security our standards.

According to Magdalena Ludwiczak, Partner in charge of the Audit Department, Rödl & Partner's stable position in the Rzeczpospolita's ranking is the result of a constant search for effective solutions and the pursuit to be one of the best audit firms. Through innovative audit tools, our firm seeks to match the level of digital maturity of its clients while developing high quality services. Particularly now, in an era of digital transformation, the ability to adapt and use state-of-the-art tools is crucial for auditors who have to deal with increasingly complex data and growing client expectations of speed and efficiency in audit processes.

In the area of advisory services, our firm not only responds to the current market situation, but also anticipates future developments for the good of the clients. At the time of rapid change and economic uncertainty, the ability to anticipate trends and a proactive approach to advice become crucial to building client confidence and ensuring stability in a dynamic business environment. Technological progress, especially in data analytics and artificial intelligence, is inherent in every stage of auditor's work, while mobility and interdisciplinarity are becoming increasingly desirable to ensure better understanding of the various aspects of a client's business and provide more comprehensive solutions, adds Therese Baginski, Partner in charge of the Audit Department.
